Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tinney et al (CA81:145630).

Tinney et al teach that the pharmaceutical composition of (2-amino-4,5,6,7-tetrahydrobenzo[b]thien-3-yl)-2-naphthalenyl-methanone was more potent an an antianxiety agent than chlordiazepoxide.

A composition is a composition, irregardless of its use. There is no patentable distinction seen between the composition of Tinney et al and the instant one when R3 is 2-naphthyl and R4 and R5 form a six membered ring.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tinney et al (CA81145630).

Art Unit: 1626

The composition taught by Tinney et al as discussed supra is a positional isomer of the instant 1-naphthyl species. Positional isomers are considered obvious variants to the ordinary skilled artisan.

It would have been prima facie obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the application was filed to prepare a positional isomer of a known compound, motivation being that said isomer would be expected to produce the same or similar properties as its known obvious counterpart, absent some unobvious or unexpected results.

No unobvious or unexpected results are seen.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 25-29 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-23 of U.S. Patent No. 6,713,638. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because a composition is obvious form of a compound for pharmaceutical use. In other words, a compound and its composition are not patentably distinct, especially when it is used as a pharmaceutical.
